JONATHAN SPERGEL, PARTNER WITH MANKO, GOLD, KATCHER & FOX, LLP
SPOKE AT 15TH ANNUAL BUSINESS OF BROWNFIELDS CONFERENCE

Philadelphia, PA (April 27, 2010) – Jonathan Spergel, a partner with Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP, spoke on April 20 at the three-day 15th Annual Business of Brownfields Conference, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Spergel’s seminar, “Overcoming Hurdles to Redevelopment – A Case Study of Technical, Economic, and Interpersonal Challenges,” discussed the unique and challenging redevelopment of the former National Lead Brownfields site in Sayreville, New Jersey. Spergel moderated a panel of experts who discussed the myriad of challenges associated with this brownfields redevelopment.

Spergel handles a variety of environmental issues in his law practice, including the environmental aspects of commercial transactions and brownfields sites, public funding opportunities for brownfields sites, regulatory compliance counseling, and litigation for commercial, industrial, residential, and individual clients. He has authored a number of articles on environmental issues and frequently lectures for various groups and organizations. Currently, Spergel is on the board of the Lower Merion Conservancy, and was previously the chair of the board from 2007 to 2009. For six years, he was a member of the Board of Trustees of Riverbend Environmental Education Center in Gladwyne. Spergel received his juris doctor from the University of Pennsylvania Law School cum laude and earned an A.B. in economics from Stanford University with distinction.
