Jonathan E. Rinde of
Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP, to Present
“Current Issues in Stormwater Regulation in Pennsylvania”

For Lorman Education Services in Allentown, PA
November 20, 2013

Philadelphia, PA (November 1, 2013) – On November 20, 2013, Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox partner Jonathan E. Rinde will head to Allentown, Pa. to present “Current Issues in Stormwater Regulation in Pennsylvania”, sponsored by Lorman Education Services. The program will address current legal issues in stormwater, monitoring and inspection, proper design and selection of best management practices (BMPs), and recommendation on how to avoid reactive responses to regulatory changes and plan adequately to ensure compliance. This full-day program runs 8:30 am – 4:30 pm and provides continuing education credits. To learn more about the program and to register, visit www.lorman.com (Course 390314).

Jonathan entered the legal profession with an educational background in the sciences and natural resources, and with professional experience as an environmental consultant. As a partner at the firm, he advises clients on issues ranging from wetlands, endangered species and cultural resources to those involving brownfields remediation, sewage facilities, and real estate transactions and permitting. Jonathan was lead environmental counsel to the Philadelphia Authority for Industrial Development in its acquisition of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, an approximately 1,400 acre former military base in south Philadelphia, a representation that continues today as he assists in its redevelopment as a vibrant mixed-use development. More recently, he has been counsel to industrial clients and real estate development firms in avoiding and resolving enforcement actions regarding the management of stormwater, an area of recent and rapid regulatory change.
