Michael M. Meloy and Brett Slensky of Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP, Spoke at Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry 2015 Annual Environmental Conference

Philadelphia, PA (April 9, 2015) – Michael M. Meloy and Brett Slensky, attorneys with the environmental, energy and land use law and litigation firm of Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP (“MGKF”) located just outside of Philadelphia, PA, spoke at the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry’s 2015 Annual Environmental Conference on April 8 in Lancaster, PA. Meloy and Slensky addressed the difficult challenges that environmental, health and safety managers face in handling the numerous paperwork and permitting requirements that apply to the regulated community. Their presentation, entitled “Environmental Compliance Paperwork and Permits – Managing the Beast,” was designed to highlight the importance that paperwork plays under many environmental, health and safety programs, and offer practical suggestions on how effectively to manage paperwork requirements.

Michael Meloy has over 30 years of experience in the environmental arena. He brings both a legal and engineering background to bear in representing a wide array of clients ranging from Fortune 100 companies to closely held corporations, partnerships, municipalities, and citizens groups in environmental litigation, regulatory compliance, and transactional matters. Michael has provided regulatory assistance and advice to businesses in connection with all of the major environmental regulatory programs, handled the environmental aspects of complex real estate and corporate transactions, been actively involved in numerous redevelopment and remediation projects around the world, handled environmental litigation in both the federal and state courts and before administrative tribunals, and helped design and implement environmental auditing and compliance management programs.

Brett Slensky concentrates his practice on the environmental aspects of commercial transactions, property development issues, regulatory compliance and renewable energy. In the transactional context, Brett advises clients on a range of due diligence and permitting issues, applicable state and federal liability protections, and the negotiation and structure of the pertinent deal documents. In the regulatory compliance area, Brett assists clients to meet their particular environmental compliance objectives, including the implementation of practical management strategies and programs for one or multiple facilities, addressing discrete issues that may arise in connection with daily operations, and proactive management of enforcement and business risks.
