Panelist for “Allocating CERCLA Liability: Divisibility or Section 113 Equitable Contribution” CLE webinar

Philadelphia, PA (August 13, 2015) – Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox partner John F. Gullace discussed CERCLA liability as a panelist on an August 5 webinar entitled, “Allocating CERCLA Liability: Divisibility or Section 113 Equitable Contribution”. Gullace and the panel examined the statutory language and what the Burlington Northern & Santa Fe Railway Co. v. U.S. decision means for divisibility, provided guidance for environmental counsel on when the divisibility of harm defense is appropriate and discussed tactics to overcome challenges in proving divisibility. This was an update to the similarly-titled Strafford program he presented in March 2014.

John Gullace represents a broad array of clients, ranging from Fortune 500 companies to smaller closely held businesses, facing diverse environmental issues. Although John is a partner in the firm’s environmental litigation group, he is also regularly called upon by clients to handle site remediation matters and complex negotiations with government entities and private parties, such as arise in the infrastructure projects in which he has been involved in recent years.

John is currently listed in Chambers USA for environmental law and in The Best Lawyers® in America for environmental litigation. He has also been included in the Pennsylvania Super Lawyers listing for environmental litigation since 2012.

He is very active with the American Bar Association's Section of Environment, Energy and Resources. John has held numerous committee positions and is currently the Vice Chair of the Superfund and Natural Resource Damages Litigation Committee. He also serves on the Board of Directors for the Lower Merion Conservancy.
