Meloy and Cassidy of Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP, to Speak at Pennsylvania Chamber 2013 Annual Environmental Conference

Wednesday, April 17, 2013
Harrisburg, PA

Philadelphia, PA (April 1, 2013) – Michael M. Meloy and Bart E. Cassidy, partners with the environmental and energy law firm of Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP (“MGKF”), will speak at the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry’s Environmental Conference that will take place in Harrisburg on Wednesday, April 17, 2013, both scheduled for 1 p.m.

Cassidy’s program, entitled, “Clean Air Compliance,” will focus on recent developments in air quality regulations, which have been the subject of significant changes during the past year. He’ll be joined by John Slade from All4, Inc. for a team-teaching approach to provide both legal and technical compliance strategies.

Michael Meloy will participate in the “Residual and Hazardous Waste Compliance” program. Even though hazardous and residual waste regulations have been in effect for years, the requirements continue to be confusing. Meloy will be joined by Steve Socash, Chief of the Division of Municipal and Residual Waste for PA Department of Environmental Protection, to help sort out the regulations, permitting requirements, proper disposal or recycling of waste, practical compliance strategies, and much more.

Michael Meloy has 28 years of experience in the environmental arena. He brings both a legal and engineering background to bear in representing a wide array of clients ranging from Fortune 100 companies to closely held corporations, partnerships, municipalities, and citizens groups in environmental litigation, regulatory compliance, and transactional matters. Michael has provided regulatory assistance and advice to businesses in connection with all of the major environmental regulatory programs, handled the environmental aspects of complex real estate and corporate transactions, been actively involved in numerous redevelopment and remediation projects around the world, handled environmental litigation in both the federal and state courts and before administrative tribunals, and helped design and implement environmental auditing and compliance management programs.

At MGKF, Cassidy combines his legal, technical, and business skills to assist clients with a broad spectrum of environmental issues, including air and water quality control, waste management, storage tank issues, business and real estate transactions, and administrative litigation. He is a licensed Professional Engineer in addition to being a licensed attorney. His engineering education and experience have proven to be a valuable asset in providing environmental regulatory counseling to clients, particularly in the highly technical realm of air quality control, and in litigating environmental matters before federal and state courts and administrative tribunals.
