Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox Welcomes Sean C. Kellem as a Litigation Associate

Kellem

Philadelphia, PA (July 17, 2025) – Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP (MGKF), a leading environmental, energy, land use, and litigation law firm, is pleased to announce that Sean C. Kellem has joined the firm as a litigation associate. Sean brings a strong background in public service and legal scholarship to MGKF.

Prior to joining the firm, he served as a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Philadelphia and as an attorney-adviser with the U.S. Department of State in Washington, D.C. He also worked as a Law Fellow at The American Law Institute (ALI), where he conducted in-depth legal research and analysis on a range of complex issues.

Sean earned his J.D., magna cum laude, from Georgetown University Law Center. While at Georgetown, he served as an Executive Editor and Chair of the Diversity Review Board for The Georgetown Law Journal and co-chaired the Practical Learning Committee for Georgetown Human Rights Action. He was also the recipient of several CALI Awards for Best Examination in: Evidence, Federal Courts & the Federal System, Introduction to International Law, International Human Rights, and Legal Justice Seminar.

In addition to his law degree, Sean simultaneously earned a Master of Public Policy from Georgetown's McCourt School of Public Policy. Following graduation, he served as a judicial law clerk to the Honorable Paul L. Friedman of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

Sean holds a bachelor's degree from Brown University, where he spent a semester abroad in Dakar, Senegal. Before attending law school, he taught English and traveled extensively, including time in South Korea, Thailand, Australia, and Senegal.

Outside of work, Sean enjoys spending time outdoors with his wife and two young children, particularly in Philadelphia's Wissahickon Valley Park.
