Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox Strengthens Environmental Team with Technical Consultant Christopher R. Furlong, MBS, PMP

Furlong

Philadelphia, PA (November 3, 2025) – Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP (MGKF), a leading environmental, energy, land use, and litigation law firm, is pleased to announce that Christopher Furlong, MBS, PMP has joined the firm as a technical consultant. He brings over 15 years of environmental consulting experience, with a strong focus on site remediation, project management, and regulatory compliance.

Chris is a former New Jersey Licensed Site Remediation Professional (LSRP) who has led complex remediation projects across sectors including oil and gas, government, utilities, pharmaceutical, and industrial properties. His background includes site assessment, stakeholder engagement, technical reporting, and remediation cost estimating. Chris's broad experience informs his strategic approach to regulatory and transactional matters—particularly those involving environmental due diligence, remediation of emerging contaminants such as PFAS, litigation support, and complex regulatory challenges. Chris speaks on relevant topics including risk communication and PFAS remediation at various industry events.

“Chris is a tremendous addition to our technical consulting team at the firm,” says team leader Michael Nines. “The goal of our technical consulting team at the firm is to support the firm’s attorneys and clients in bridging the gap between science and law in technically complex situations. Chris’ deep experience and practical approach in site remediation matters will be especially important as emerging contaminants like PFAS are significantly impacting our clients’ transactions, litigation matters and site cleanups.”

Chris earned his Master’s of Business and Science with a focus on Urban Environmental Analysis from Rutgers University in 2021 after completing his undergraduate work in Biology at Saint Michael’s College. He was certified as a Project Management Professional (PMP) in 2024 and has been active in several industry groups including the Chemistry Council of New Jersey, the Marcellus Shale Coalition, Commerce and Industry Association of New Jersey (CIANJ) and the Brownfield Coalition of the Northeast (BCONE).

Outside of work, Chris enjoys spending time at the beach, cooking, watching live music, and snowboarding.
